RENO, WASHOE COUNTY, NEVADA, THURSDAY, DECEMBER 11, 1879.

NO. 62.

NEWS ITEMS OF INTEREST.

It snowed in Reno on the 18th of last month, and at night the weather was so cold that a boy coming into the city across the campaign was frozen to death just outside of the Maggiore gate.

Sheffield, England, sends large quantities of steel blades to Connecticut to be struck off into pens. They are then returned to England, where the fine finishing is done, and they take a final trip to America as Sheffield ware.

Louisa Funk of Troy caused the arrest of James Riley for assault. After examination, Riley was discharged. As he was about to leave the court room the complainant pointed a revolver at him, exclaiming, "You shall die by my hand!" But she was in error, for the carter failed to explode.

An Italian brigand, notorious for robbery and murder, emigrated to Buenos Ayres many years ago, and now resides there in a sumptuous villa, lavishing large sums on the poor. He is afraid to return to his native land, however, whence he fled to escape a sentence of imprisonment for life.

The Russian Imperial Council will shortly issue an order enjoining the authorities to report as to the number and character of all horses throughout Russia—a knowledge of the national resources in this respect being necessary in view of the contingency of the army having to be supplied with an increased and effective cavalry force.

A laboring man of North Shields, England, who was returning to his home at the close of a day's work, struck a match against his trousers, and in a moment was enveloped in flames. In a little time the match was reduced to ashes, and he was dreadfully burned. His clothes seem to have become saturated with chemicals while following his employment.

Hog stealing in Paris, Ky., has its dangers. A man named Wilson tied the feet together of a freshly-dressed hog that he proposed to steal, and putting his head between the legs, carried the hog on his shoulders. In climbing a fence, the hog fell on one side and he on the other, and he was found in the morning dead. The weight of the animal had pressed his throat tight against the fence and his feet could not touch the ground. He had choked to death.

Mark Twain and O. W. Holmes.

The following is an extract from Mark Twain's speech at the breakfast recently given to Dr. Holmes by the publishers of the Atlantic Monthly, in honor of his seventieth birthday:

"Two years before I had been laid up a couple of weeks in the Sandwich Islands, and read and reread Mr. Holmes' poems until my mental reservoir was filled up with them to the brim. The dedication lay on top and handy—so by and by I unconsciously stole the rest of the volume, too, for many people have told me that my book was 'pretty' 'poetical,' in one way or another. Well, of course, I wrote Mr. Holmes and told him I hadn't meant to steal, and he wrote back in the kindest way that it was all right and no harm done; and added that he believed we all unconsciously worked over ideas gathered in reading and hearing, imagining they were original with ourselves. He stated a truth, and did it in such a spot so gently and so hesitatingly that I was rather glad I had committed the crime for the sake of the letter. I afterwards called on him, and told him to make perfectly free with any idea of mine that struck him as being good for plot-planting for poetry. He could see by that there wasn't anything mean about me; so we got along right from the start."

Buffalo Robes Getting Scarce.

The rapidly with which the bison is disappearing from the western plains may be inferred from the following statistics collected at Fort Macleod, near the head waters of the South Saskatchewan (lon. 140° W., lat. 50° N.), in British North America, and Fort Walsh, some 40 further east, both places being important centers for the collection of buffalo robes. The money value of each robe to the Indian hunter may be roughly estimated at $2. In 1877 some 30,000 robes were gathered at Fort Macleod, and a large number at Fort Walsh. In 1878 the number was 12,797 at the former, and 16,897 at the latter place; while this year only 5,764 have come into Fort Macleod and 8,377 to Fort Walsh.

Wanted No Falsities Over His Grave.

M. Viollet le Duc, the greatest of modern French architects, who died a few months ago, wrote to his lawyer seven years since: "It is each one's duty to prepare for eventualities, and the sole thing that would torment me while living would be the apprehension that good people would believe themselves obliged to utter platitudes over my grave." He then proceeded to say: "I desire that my funeral shall be of the simplest character. If I die while traveling, I desire that my body may be interred in the place of my decease. Wherever I may be buried, I desire that over my grave no address may be made, and that a simple slab shall cover me, bearing only my name."

The Luck in Delaware.

Official whippings are continued regularly at Newcastle, Del., and are regarded as a matter of course by the residents, though strangers are sometimes shocked by the sight. On the last whipping day five convicted thieves were punished. The first was a German, who was not severely lashed, and he walked away smiling. The second was a miserable tramp, who bore the ordeal without flinching. Two negroes, who came next, withered and mattered under the pain of severe blows. The fifth was a boy of fifteen. He was so frightened that it was necessary to force him to the post, and at the first stroke he desperately freed himself by pulling his hands out of the staples. A handkerchief was used to fasten him, but he got loose again before the prescribed twenty blows were completed, and pathetically begged the Sheriff not to strike so hard.

The "Bulletin" Free Seed Distribution for 1880.

Arrangements have been perfected for a free seed distribution among the subscribers of the "Bulletin" of several kinds of rare and valuable trees, vegetables and flowers. Great care has been taken to choose varieties that have been tested sufficiently in this country or elsewhere, to prove their value for the Pacific Coast, and such are not readily obtained through ordinary channels. The object has also been kept constantly in view of obtaining such varieties as would prove, not only of benefit to our subscribers, but an advantage to the whole coast. Some of the more valuable of the list have not yet found their way into the catalogues of American seedmen, and are not obtainable in this country. Several varieties have been ordered from England, France and Japan at large expense, and the actual retail value of the seeds to be presented to each subscriber will about equal the subscription price of this paper. The distribution will be made during the ensuing winter, and will commence as soon as the first shipment arrives from Europe. There will be delay in the arrival of some of those from France on account of the necessity, in order to obtain perfectly fresh seeds, of waiting for the ripening of the crop of the present season. As soon as possible the date for commencing the distribution will be announced with full particulars through the columns, and in the meantime a description of each variety, accompanied in most cases by an illustration, will be published, and each subscriber will be able to judge of the adaptability of the different kinds to his locality. In view of the seed distribution and the fact that the Reno Weekly Gazette, the Friday's "Bulletin" and the Weekly "Indicador" are all given for $3, this is the greatest inducement to subscribe ever offered on the Pacific Coast.

A Want Supplied.

There are many persons residing in the country and living at a distance from the nearest Postoffice who do not find it convenient to obtain their mail matter every day, and therefore do not subscribe for a daily paper, yet desire to be informed of the world's progress more frequently than once in a week. To meet this demand it has been decided to furnish the Weekly Gazette, together with the Friday's "Bulletin" and the Weekly "Indicador", when all are sent to one address at the same rate as has heretofore been charged for the Weekly "Bulletin" alone, namely $2 per year. This amount subscribers will receive three papers each week, or a total of one hundred and fifty-six complete newspapers a year, in place of fifty-two as formerly. Every farmer, merchant and miner will at once perceive the great benefit to be derived from receiving reliable market and mining reports twice a week, instead of weekly as heretofore.

Dr. Asbury Cooper's Vital Restorative. This powerful English remedy has more cures of Nervous Debility, Seminal Weakness, Lost Manhood, nocturnal emissions, lassitude, inability for mental labor, despondency, and such diseases as are induced by youthful follies and excesses, than all other medicines combined.

It is not a stimulant nor excitant; it is perfectly safe to take, is not a quick nostrum, and produces results that are wonderful. Who will not suffer? Send to A. R. Mittle, M. D., No. 11 Kearney street, San Francisco, or the Restorative, and be cured. Price, $3 per bottle. Four times the quantity, $10. Try a bottle. Dr. Mittle treats all private diseases successfully.

Cinchona Rubra.

There are now two kinds of drunkenness, continuous and periodical. Either may be termed in all respects, a disease. That it is such is proved by the one fact—affected parties are frequently compelled to drink against their will or better judgment. Nothing will restrain them; neither the prayers of friends, the tearful entreaties of wives and children, nor the imminent ruin of their lives.

The principal predisposing cause of drunkenness is a sanguine temperament, a strong, irascible nervous system. Daily observation shows that men excelling in body and mind are more disposed to drunkenness than those of feeble habits. These would be afflicted with headaches after drinking rarely become drunkards.

THE QUINA—CINCHONA RUBRA.

Cinchona bark was introduced into Europe about the year 1638, but it was not until about 1737 that the plant producing it was known to nature. In 1763, a Frenchman, on a journey to Lima, Peru, had the opportunity of examining the tree, a description of which (upon his return to Paris) he published in the Memoirs of the French Academy. Soon thereafter, Linnaeus, the botanist, gave it the name of Cinchona Officialis, in honor of the Countess of Cinchon, wife of the Viceroy of Peru, who had been healed miraculously (as the results of the bark) by the use of a decoction of the bark in water.

Cinchona stands at the head of all tonics. When taken into the stomach a pure tincture of it usually excites in a short time a warmth which diffuses itself over the whole body. After some moments have elapsed the circulation experiences its influence, and the pulse in the somewhat increased frequency of the pulse; and, after a few doses are given at regular intervals, the whole system is more or less beneficially affected, and all the functions undergo a moderate degree of excitement. Its action upon the nervous system is often evinced by a sense of tension, or fullness or slight pain in the head, singing in the ears, etc.; overdoing brings partial temporary deafness. But, besides the mere excitation of the ordinary functions of health, it produces other effects upon the system which must be considered peculiar and important of its mere tonic operation. That power by which, when administered, it interrupts the progress of the malarial fever, something more than what is understood by the tonic property; for no other substance, however powerful or permanent may be the excitement it produces, exercises a control over periodical affections at all comparable to Cinchona.

In all periodical diseases, such as occasional "fevering" and ague, there are intervals of rest or freedom from the effects of the train of morbid actions going on in the recesses of the nervous system, and but one remedy is known which has the power during this intermission of preventing a return of the condition experienced prior to its administration. That remedy is Cinchona Rubra. Exactly how it does this has not yet been satisfactorily explained; but that it does it has been acknowledged for over a hundred years. Indeed, all well-read and experienced medical men admit that Cinchona has this wonderful anti-periodic property. Prepared and sold by Dr. R. D'Unger, Palmer House, Chicago, Illinois.

Guiltily as Charged.

That Bright's disease, Diabetes, Pain in the back and loins, Smelling, Inflammation, Calculi, Brickbat deposit, or any trouble of the Kidneys or Bladder, is cured by the use of Dr. Merz's Nerve-Regulator, the great Buchu Compound. It is the most wonderful prescription ever compounded for these troubles. Messrs. Abrams & Carroll, wholesale druggists, say: "We regard Dr. Merz's Nerve-Regulator as the best Kidney and Bladder remedy in the market." Woodward, druggist, Portland, Oregon, says: "Everybody speaks highly of it." Othello, druggist, Portland, Oregon, says: "Sold lots of it; it always does the work." Many have been cured of obstinate kidney complaints after the doctors have given them up. For sale by Osburn & Shoemaker. Price $1.50. oct-3

Suicide.

A distinguished scientist, once said: "No man with a strong and healthy constitution ever committed suicide, and yet many are suffering the tortures of the damned with Dyspepsia, when a single bottle of Dr. Merz's Nerve-Regulator will give relief, and, if persisted in, will cure the worst case of this distressing trouble. This pill cures Torpid Liver and Biliousness, regulates the bowels, removes pimples from the face, cures salivary complications, flatulency, sick headache, heartburn, pain in the sides and back; is soporific, and guaranteed to be a perfect restorative. It acts directly upon the cranium of the stomach and on the liver; can be taken in any climate—wet or dry weather. Beware of imitations. The genuine has an engraving of a lion on the outside wrapper. Price 50 cents. For sale by Osburn & Shoemaker, druggists.

THE "GAZETTE" FOR 1980.
We can say with assurance that the GAZETTE will be a better newspaper in 1980 than at any previous period in its history. Our facilities have been increased in every department, and with larger experience, we cannot fail to make a thoroughly live, reliable and newsy paper. It will contain in a condensed form, all general news—Congressional, political, commercial, religious and social—while this part of the country will be scraped for home news. Everything of a vicious or immoral nature will be, as heretofore, rigidly excluded from its columns. It will, in short, be a complete family newspaper. The weekly is double the size of the daily, and contains all its reading matter. Although everything in our line has gone up, there will be no advance in prices. For terms to clubs, etc., see advertisement.

U. S. Grant wants a third term as President of the United States. There is no longer any doubt of it. Since his return to this country his actions and his words alike confirm this belief. Grant has frequently been asked to declare himself on the question of a third term. His answers have always been indirect and evasive. In Virginia City he is reported to have said that he hoped the necessity for his re-nomination would not arise. A man whose eyes were not fixed on the White House would not be likely to make such a remark. If Grant does not want to be President again he would be apt to say so. Had he not wished for a third term all along, he would have long ago refused to be again put in nomination. His silence on the question may better his chances for nomination, but he must know that it is injuring his party. Who cares? Not Grant.

There are about 48,000,000 people in this country. It would be strange if among so many only one man were fit to be President. Yet Grant says: "I hope the necessity for my re-nomination may not arise." Is this modesty? Has Grant's head been turned because he has been "so long abroad"? Is his brain really softening, as has been stated? Or has long brooding over his hopes of a third term made his mind ascend upon that one question? The government of this country has been Republican. The love of Republican principles is fixed in the hearts of the people. Any departure from the traditions and the established usages of Democracy in America, in the direction of extending the power of the Executive or making his lease of office permanent, should be discouraged. The people of the United States don't want a one-man Government. It was because they were tired of that kind of rule that the waters of Boston harbor were stained with tea.

The arguments for a third term would be just as good for a fourth, fifth or sixth, for a continuance in office for life. If Grant should sit in the Presidential chair again, who can doubt that he would use his power to keep himself there? The people might, every four years, have a chance to express their approval of his retention of power, by a plebiscite, after the Napoleonic fashion. Julius Caesar was a victorious general and a great man. The Romans made him their ruler, but he was ambitious and became a tyrant. There appears to be a good deal of Caesar about Grant.

The question has been raised as to whether the Oakland track, over which St. Julian trotted in the unprecedented time of 2:12 1/4, is a full mile or not. The Alta says it is a full mile, and some inches to spare, measured three feet from the inner rail. This settles the question of St. Julian's wonderful performance. The public are patiently awaiting another trial of his speed.
